The search for the Mole Creek master cave

Nic Haygarth

We were each of us nearly speechless with cold...above and around us hung huge masses of rock, in all sorts of threatening postures, embedded in a red clay, seeming as if ready, at the slightest touch, to slip down and crush us to atoms.
