

Caving in the far north — the 2018 recce to Ha Giang, Vietnam

ADAM SPILLANE, Sheffield University Speleological Society, UK

In November 2018 a small team will recce the caves and caving potential of Ha Giang province. Various groups have tried in the past, none have succeeded for more than a few days. Political problems have seen them ejected from the province. We have an invitation. Will it be different this time?