

Ai Chi Lang Cultural and Historical Site

Alternative site name(s)

Chi Lang pass

Province(s)

Lang Son

Status

Decreed

Management board established

No

Latitude

21°354' - 21°38'N

Longitude

106°30' - 106°34'E

Bio-unit

06a - Tropical South China

Conservation status

Ai Chi Lang was included on Decision No. 194/CT of the Chairman of the Council of Ministers, dated 9 August 1986 (MARD 1997), which proposed the establishment of a 1,000 ha cultural and historical site for the conservation of "limestone karst forests for historical relic preservation" (Cao Van Sung 1995). To date, an investment plan for the cultural and historical site has not been prepared (Le Trong Trai pers. comm.). Ai Chi Lang is not included on the 2010 list (FPD 1998), and it can be considered that this site has been proposed for removal from the national protected areas system.

Topography and hydrology

The geology of Ai Chi Lang is characterised by limestone karst.

Biodiversity value

No information.

Conservation issues

No information.

Other documented values

Ai Chi Lang Cultural and Historical Site was decreed in order to preserve historical relics from the resistance war fought by the Le Dynasty against Chinese invaders in the 14th century (Vu Van Dung pers. comm.).

Related projects

No information.

Literature sources

None.