

Reproductive biology of Goniosoma albiscriptum (Arachnida, Opiliones, Gonyleptidae)

Rodrigo Hirata WILLEMART & Pedro GNASPINI

Departamento de Zoologia, Instituto de Biociências, Universidade de São Paulo, Caixa Postal 11461, 05422-970 São Paulo, SP, Brazil. rhw@ib.usp.br and gnaspini@ib.usp.br

This study focused on reproductive seasonality, copulatory and oviposition behavior, sites of oviposition, number and size of eggs, and parental care of the cave harvestman, Goniosoma albiscriptum. In order to follow this aspects of the harvestmen natural history, the mark-recapture method was used. Their distribution within the cave environment and their reaction to “intruders” (potential egg predators), comparatively between guarding and non-guarding females were studied.

Grant FAPESP # 99/07943-9