Dear Peter,

Thank you for bringing to my attention the important work you and your Government are doing to create a sustainable development strategy for Western Australia.

I am most impressed by the extensive processes that you are undertaking, and I am sure that many practitioners and policy-makers around the world will be eager to see how your work progresses.

I particularly recommend that you be sure to share your work with the International sustainability community through organisations such as the International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives and through publications such as the journal Local Environment.

Sincerely

Mark Roseland
Director
